Seen & Heard Around MURRAY

Don Alley, Safety Director down at Tappan brings in the following which is particularly appropriate since school is about to begin once more.

Small kids, no higher than your knee seemingly, will be on their way to and from school, so be careful.

Here's Don's contribution, which is entitled "A Father's Plea".

"A few weeks ago, I saw a little girl struck by a car as she tried to cross the street. I saw a father race toward her and hold her to him as she struggled in the agony of death.

"I saw all the plans that had been made for her dashed and I saw the look of despair that came over his face. I could only offer a prayer that such a thing might never happen again.

"Today my daughter, who is six years old, started off to school. Her mother, whose name is Scott, watched her leave and wished his belief in the folly of education.

"Tonight we talked about school. She told me about the girl who sits in front of her, a girl with yellow curls, and about the boy across the aisle who makes faces; about the teacher who has eyes in the back of her head; about the trees in the school yard and a big girl who does not believe in Santa Claus.

"We talked about a lot of things — tremendously vital and unimportant things.

"Now, as this is written, she is sound asleep with her doll 'Paddy' in her arms.

"When her doll gets broken or her finger gets out or her head gets bumped, I can fix them. But when she starts across the street — then, Mr. Driver, she is in your hands.

"Much as I wish I could, it's not possible for me to be with her all the time. I have to work to pay for her home, her clothes, her education.

"So, Mr. Driver, please help me to look out for her. Please drive carefully. Please drive slowly past schools and at intersections. And please remember that sometimes children run behind parked cars.

"Please don't run over my little girl.

"With deepest thanks for whatever you can do for her, I am, Very sincerely yours, (signed) FATHER

—Greater Detroit Safety Council—

It is always a good idea to slow down when you see a group of young folks walking along the street or sidewalk. You never know what they will do. We've seen a kid all of a sudden just run out in the street or all of a sudden push a buddy off the sidewalk into the street.

While we were gone on vacation a good neighbor fed and watered old Sport. We did not figure Sport would miss us but we understand he would not eat for several days.

Sport is so large that somehow we never figured that he was so sensitive.

He was the first one to greet us however and you never saw such (Continued on Page Eight)

Flood Waters Hit Alaska City With More On The Way

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, 879 — Flood waters from the rampaging Chena River began inching slowly downstream today leaving 30,000 residents reeling under Alaska's worst disaster since the earthquake of 1964.

There were three known deaths, and highway links with the outside were washed out, the city's water supply was condemned and nearly every home was damaged.

The downtown area, which Mayor H. A. Boucher said looked from the air like "a big bathtub which a child had filled with toy houses and buildings," was being patrolled by police and National Guardsmen in boats and military amphibious craft.

Isolated fires raged for a time Tuesday night and there was nothing to do but to let them burn themselves out.

"The river is going down some today," Boucher said. "We haven't lost our sense of humor."

4,000 evacuees

The University of Alaska, located nearby, looked like a refugee camp as 4,000 evacuees streamed in. Others were housed at Eielson Air Force Base, the high school and a Murray girl is in Fairbanks, Alaska and efforts are being made to check with her and her husband. The couple, Second Lt. and Mrs. Raymond Edward Moreland are stationed at Fort Richardson but live off the base in Fairbanks. Mrs. Moreland is the former Betty Crutcher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Crutcher of Murray Route Five, La. Moreland's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Howard Moreland of Mayfield. The couple's home is located on the banks of the Chena River which is over six feet over flood stage.

and an elementary school and the public safety building — all situated on higher ground or with floors above the flood.

"When we evacuated St. Joseph's Hospital, it looked as if the city were in the middle of a gigantic river," Boucher said. "The water was boiling in the streets and we began to wonder when it was going to stop."

Both Boucher and Alaska Gov. Walter J. Hickel appealed to President Johnson to declare Fairbanks and the town of Nenana, about 50 miles southwest of here, is on the Tanana River into which the Chena flows. Its 300 residents were evacuated Monday night.

The Chena, which winds through Fairbanks, began dropping slowly when the rain stopped Tuesday afternoon but the water was still six to seven feet deep in the downtown section.

Airborne Troops Trap 12,000 Below Da Nang

By ALVIN WEBB

SAIGON (AP) — Troops of the U.S. 101st Airborne Division have trapped a Communist regiment of 1,200 to 1,500 men in four days of fighting in the coastal areas below Da Nang, a U.S. military spokesman reported today.

Fragmentary reports from the battlefield midway between Chu Lai and Tam Ky, 350 miles north of Saigon, said 21 Communists were killed today to boost the total since Sunday to 79. The Americans had five killed today to bring the toll since Sunday to 11 dead and 4 wounded.

In fighting further south near Qui Nhon, about 285 miles north of Saigon, American and Allied troops killed 65 North Vietnamese in a jungle battle Tuesday in which U.S. strafing planes, helicopter gunships and artillery sent Communist survivors fleeing for their lives.

Giant hoobytraps killed eight Marines in another incident in the Da Nang area while in Saigon a grenade hurled by a small boy wounded 10 American civilians.

Identity Uncertain
A military spokesman said it was not known whether the Communist force trapped by the paratroopers was North Vietnamese or Viet Cong. He said army helicopter gunships and flareships were bombing and strafing the Red unit.

First contact was made Sunday and the paratroopers, flown in recently to reinforce U.S. Marines in the area, began moving in. The spokesman said the Communist unit has been cut off. Usually in such cases, U.S. fighter bombers and artillery try to annihilate the remnants.

The eight Marines were killed.

Several cases have been handled in the court of County Judge Hall McCuiston in the past week. According to the records of the court, they are as follows:

Nelle Rubens Beane, Route 6, Murray, cited by the State Police, speeding, fined $10.00 and $18.00 costs.

Levi Lynn Warner, Route 1, Hardin, State Police, speeding, fined $10.00 and $18.00 costs.

James Hargrave, Dexter, Sheriff, public drunkenness, fined $10.00 and $18.00 costs.

Jackie Boyd, Sheriff, speeding and eluding a peace officer to avoid arrest, fined $100.00 and costs suspended and reckless driving, $100.00 and costs suspended.

Paul Latham, Murray, Sheriff, public drunkenness, directed to attend four sessions of the alcoholism school at the Health Center.

Sam Bryan, 118 South 10th, Murray, Sheriff, cold checking, executed $1,000.00 bond and will appear before September Grand Jury.

Franklin Wallace, Detroit, Mich., State Police, speeding, fined $10.00 and $18.00 costs.

Thomas Glen Fairrell, Route 1, Murray, Sheriff, DWI, fined $100.00 and $18.00 costs.

Income Tax Questions & Answers

Q. — My son graduated from high school in June and has started work. If he stays home with us can we still claim him as a dependent?

A. — Generally, you may not claim as a dependent anyone who earns $600 or more during the year. However, the earnings test does not apply to your child if he is under 19 years of age or is a full-time student during any part of five calendar months of the year.

You must, of course, meet the other dependency tests. This includes the requirement that you provide more than half his total support for the entire year.

Q. — If I take a course in short-hand as my boss wants me to, will that be deductible? He hasn't said he would pay for it.

A. — If your employer expressly requires you to take the course to retain your present position then the cost would be a deductible expense. Even if the course is not required by your employer the cost would still be deductible if it is necessary to improve or maintain the skills needed for your job.

Books, supplies, laboratory fees
and tuition fees are covered if the course qualifies.

Q. — We had to sacrifice some of our furniture for practically nothing when we moved. Can we deduct this loss?

A. — No. The law does not allow losses on the sale of personal property to be deductible.

Q. — I've got asthma and the doctor says I should air condition
our house. Can I deduct the cost as a medical expense?

A. — If air conditioning is recommended by a physician for the treatment of a specific condition or illness and the air conditioning is installed primarily for realistic, it is an allowable medical expense. However, only the excess of the cost over the increase in value of your house resulting from the installation of the air conditioning is an allowable expense.

To avoid any question about this expense, be sure to obtain a statement from your doctor explaining why he recommends air conditioning for you.

Q. — As a student and an independent contractor, I don't want my tax account number. What is that?

A. — This is your Social Security number. The law requires financial institutions to send the de-positors for his number and to use it when reporting to IRS the interest payments on all savings accounts earning $10 or more during the calendar year.

Q. — Will I get any "tax breaks"
when I reach 65?

A. — Yes, there are several changes which could reduce your Federal tax liability. You are entitled to an additional $600 exemption when you become 65 and you may be entitled to a retirement income credit.

"Tax Benefits for Older Americans," IRS Document No. 5069, describes those and other benefits for persons 65 and over. A free copy may be obtained by sending a post card to your IRS District Director.

Q. — I paid a lawyer to fight a speeding ticket I got. Are his fees deductible?

A. — No, legal fees for this purpose are considered a personal expense and not deductible.

disability applicants file later than
this, thus risking loss of benefits
they might otherwise have received.
An undetermined number of disabled persons do not file at all,
and so miss out entirely.

Whittaker cautioned, however,
that benefits can be paid only if a person's disability is severe enough to prevent him from doing not only his usual job, but also any work in keeping with his age, education, and experience. And, to be eligible, a person must have worked under social security for at least 5 of the 10 years before he became disabled.

Benefits continue for as long as the disability lasts, or until the beneficiary reaches 65. At age 65, disability benefits are converted to retirement benefits, without any change in the amount.

Currently, over a million disabled persons—plus more than a million of their dependents—are receiving benefits under the program.

"Anyone who feels he might qualify," Whittaker said, "should contact the Social Security District Office, 112 South Tenth Street, Paducah. The office is open Monday through Friday, 8:45 a. m. to 5:00 p. m., and until 8:00 p. m.
on Thursday nights."

BLACK POWER REVOLUTION

The nightmare of rioting and pillaging which has overwhelmed
Detroit and other American cities is the end of more than a decade of encouragement of anarchy by American liberals.

As this column warned for several years, the repeated glib praise of "revolution" by liberal leaders in the United States—clergymen and professors as well as politicians in the Northeast—has turned into a horror story of bloodshed and savagery.

The idea that one group of Americans possesses an unresisted right to break local laws, to demonstrate and to engage in civil disobedience is at the root of the terrorism striking many cities in this land.

Behind the criminal insurrection
in Detroit and elsewhere are liberal counsels of appalling moral irresponsibility. The rioters, looters
and arsonists have been encouraged in recent years to believe that they were above the law. When disorders took place in Southern communities, for example, hundreds of clerical carpetbaggers descended on the towns and cities to condemn the law enforcement authorities.

Now, the scene is on the other foot.
The hometowns of the liberal clergy
and liberal professors are engulfed
in the smoke of armed rebellion against the lawful government. Southerners cannot be used as scapegoats.

Conservative Americans saw the insurrection coming over the last few years. Mob violence, excused by the liberals, grew each year. The first big national disaster of this sort took place in the Watts district of Los Angeles. Riots and looting at work in that outbreak never were treated with sufficient severity.

The liberals, which have enjoyed massive support from churches and charitable foundations, have been slow to learn a lesson. Only days before the Detroit rioting broke out, there was the notorious "black power" conference in Newark, N. J.

Another city scarred by anarchist rebels. The chairman of the conference turned, was the executive director of the Department of Urban Work of the Episcopal Diocese of Newark. He used the Cathedral basement of the diocese for lawless conferences.

It is to be hoped that the liberal clergy and the so-called "intellectuals" who bear such a heavy responsibility for the outbreak of anarchism, will admit their errors. At the minimum, those must be compelled to acknowledge the face of savagery in Detroit, Newark and elsewhere in this riot-torn land. The ordinary citizen certainly will have no difficulty tracing the moral rights and wrongs of the situation.

Decent people don't riot simply because they have a job that pays $1 an hour, instead of $1.50 an hour. They don't loot stores—stealing liquor and television sets—
because the apartment they live in was built in the 1920's or earlier.
Millions of people with low income
are determined to be good citizens, to obey the laws, and to respect
property belonging to others.

History tells us that some people have little or no capacity for having, respectable behavior, that the savagery sometimes is right below
the skin. No amount of sociological good-deeds can cover up the facts of jungle-like behavior
evidenced in the Detroit rioting, for example. If this kind of behavior is what our country is confronted with, then the civilized people of Michigan and other states have to employ sufficiently strong police and population control methods to prevent cities becoming jungles. It won't suffice to pay blackmail by means of anti-poverty programs. Detroit, for that matter, had one of the biggest anti-poverty programs in the nation. It didn't prevent rioting and looting.

The riots of this tragic summer point up the truth that "law and order" will have to be the watchword of responsible Americans—by the year ahead. The presidential election campaign should be keyed to civic security, for decent citizens must have security in their homes, businesses and communities. The disorder and anarchy must be ended. The rule of liberal fallacies, with respect to politics, housing and welfare, must be shattered by realistic, respectable citizens determined that the great land which we wouldn't give back to the Indians, won't fall into the hands of urban savages bent on murder,
theft and destruction.

Her Nerves Shot After 30 Years

DEAR ABBY: I have a big problem — one which I have put up with for two years. My husband is retired. He won't go any place alone, or with me for that matter. He stays home all day and cuts squares in the walls, takes out the insulation, and puts the squares back. You can just picture what my walls look like!

We have owned this dear little cottage for nearly 30 years, but you should see it now. I am so disgusted. He does just as he pleases and refuses to see a doctor. He isn't helpless. He's in good health.

I would like to move out of here and into an apartment, but he would want to come with me, and with his tearing up the walls the way he does, we'd be put out. If he were younger I would leave him. I am 60 and this is getting on my nerves. I'll do anything I can to help him. But where do I start?

DEAR DISGUSTED: You start by calling your family physician. If you don't have one, call your local mental health association and tell them your problem. They'll understand and see that you get help. If you continue to sit by and watch your husband carving up the walls, you'll soon be climbing them.

DEAR ABBY: My mother died on Saturday morning. After a day of overwhelming grief and exhaustive funeral preparations, my wife and I retired early in anticipation of the grueling days ahead.

About 9 p.m. that evening, relatives from out of state who had been notified earlier that day, began phoning, asking US to order flowers for THEM from our local florist!

This went on until midnight, Sunday, and all day Sunday.

Abby, I had never heard of such a thing before, but our local florist explained that this was becoming the thing to do because that way out-of-towners could be assured of bigger and nicer arrangements, and the cost of wiring could be eliminated.

I always thought floral tributes were sent out of sympathy and respect by the sender. If this is "the thing to do" I can understand why so many now request, "OMIT FLOWERS, PLEASE."

DEAR OUTRAGED: Florists are pledged to deliver as "big" and "nice" arrangements when ordered by wire as when ordered locally. If calling the bereaved family in such circumstances is becoming the "thing to do" in Connecticut (which I doubt), I hope the trend does not spread.

DEAR ABBY: Why is it that the second child is always better-adjusted, emotionally, than the first?

MRS. J.: In the first place, your question assumes something that is not necessarily true. But in those instances where it happens to be the case, it's probably because the mother has learned something from her first child.

Confidential to "Summer Romance": Forget him. He's a cheat. Even if he were to divorce his wife he would make very poor husband material.

WHAT'S GOING ON HERE

Wendell P. Butler
Commissioner
Ky. Dept. of Agriculture
Frankfort

Commissioner of Agriculture Wendell P. Butler says plans are underway to make the 1968 Louisville Steer and Carcass Show one of the top steer events in the midwest. The second annual, it will be held March 4-7 at the Kentucky Fair and Exposition Center.

Butler said approximately $22,000 will be offered in premiums with every steer receiving some prize money. First prize in each class will be $100, with the grand champion on-foot steer receiving $500. The champion load of ten will also receive $500 as will the champion carcass entry. A $300 prize will go to the champion group of three.

"Open to the world," both adult and youth classes will be offered. These classes will be for junior and summer calves, summer yearlings, groups of three and loads of ten of the major beef breeds.

"Our show last year was a tremendous success," Butler stated, "and we are now engaged in extensive promotion efforts for the coming show. The 1968 event is being promoted at various state fairs and national shows throughout the United States and this, along with the interest shown by last year's exhibitors, should make this one of the nation's outstanding steer shows."

The Commissioner pointed out that since cattlemen need several months of feeding time in order to prepare for a major beef show, plans must be announced early. Many feeders may need to purchase animals in order to compete in the show.

Butler said "The Department of Agriculture feels that shows like the Louisville Steer and Carcass Show do much to keep cattlemen abreast of what the beef market demands. In fact, live evaluation in the show ring, plus the carcass evaluation, provide the feeder with information he could not obtain otherwise."

"With the changing trends at the consumer level," Butler added, "it is important that cattlemen keep pace with the market."

Along with the Department of Agriculture, the show is sponsored by the Bourbon Stock Yards and Louisville packing firms in cooperation with the Division of Vocational Agricultural Education and the University of Kentucky Extension Service.

Shows and Fairs director Wendell Bruce said catalogs will soon be ready for mailing. Cattlemen wanting further information can contact Bruce at the Department of Agriculture in Frankfort.

Only 17 states require Opticians to have a license. No state has added a licensing requirement for Opticians to its laws since 1966.

Miss Joan Riley And Larry Gilbert Pledge Wedding Vows In Lovely Church Ceremony

Miss Joan Riley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Riley, became the bride of Larry Gilbert, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Gilbert, on Friday, August 11, at six o'clock at the First Baptist Church.

Bro. Willie Johnson performed the ceremony, before the archway decorated with greenery. On either side of the altar, were baskets of white gladioli and wrought iron candelabras held white tapers.

The bridesmaids were lighted by Harold Kinn and Ken Mauer.

Following the ceremony, a program of musical numbers was presented by Miss Melissa Treas, cousin of the bride.

The bride wore a white empire design wedding gown of tulle over satin. The lace bodice featured a scalloped neckline and long sleeves that came to points over the wrists. The waistline was accented by a tiny satin bow. The floor length skirt was satin and the chapel length train was made of matching lace. Her elbow length veil was attached to a matching tiara and her bridal bouquet was of white carnations.

The bridesmaid's dress was a white lace dress of aqua blue. She wore a white lace dress of aqua blue. She wore a white lace dress of aqua blue.

The Year 2000? Color It Rosy!

STANFORD, Calif. (UP) — The average man will be living to 100 by the year 2000, and he will be able to "buy any mood, from euphoria to mystic contemplation," an industry expert predicts.

Theodore Gordon, of Douglas Space Systems Center, said biologists predict that men will have longer lives because there will be millions of artificial hearts, livers and other organs available.

"Millions of these units will be installed before the end of the century," Gordon reported at a Stanford University conference.

The life expectancy in the U.S. is now 70.2 years.

Gordon's picture of the world ahead included the frightful as well as the delightful. Samples:

—Psychological, chemical, and physical techniques will give man the ability to control behavior of other men without force.

—We may find drugs that destroy the will to resist (by 1977), invincible forgetfulness, provoke artificial courage.

—Potentially inheritable defects could be detected and corrected (by 2000).

—The pharmaceutical equivalent of the liquor store in which chemicals can be obtained to buy any mood, from euphoria to mystic contemplation. Wives, perhaps, will slip anti-gravity pills into their husbands' coffee.

—"Pleasure centers" in man's brain can be triggered by electrical impulses — man may be wired to be happy.

Conclusion: Gordon: "It will not be an easy problem to carve out of this . . . a world which preserves freedom and individuality."

Household Hints

Flour can be used to remove some grease spots on carpeting. Sprinkle it lightly on the area, brush in, and then vacuum.

Refrigerate lettuce in a covered container or film bag after it has been washed and well drained. It usually will keep this way for three to eight days. When serving lettuce, break into bite-sized pieces with as little handling and bruising as possible.

Grated cheese is a tasty addition to some green vegetables, sprinkled over them at serving time. Try parmesan with green beans or blue cheese with corn.

If the family likes canned fruits, save any juice or syrup drained from them and use it later for gelatin desserts or in sweet sauces.

Morehead And Scott Find A Better Place Than Home

By VITO STELLINO
UPI Sports Writer

There may be no place like home for most of the Boston Red Sox but Dave Morehead and George Scott seem to have found an even better place.

Escaped from manager Dick Williams' doghouse, the two players found the ideal spot for both of them. The Red Sox, returning from a horrible road trip in which they lost seven of nine games, came back to Fenway Park Tuesday night and stopped the slide with a 4-0 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

In an era of new parts which all have pretty much the same dimensions, Fenway Park with its short leftfield wall remains as a throwback to the past.

The Red Sox, now in fourth place three games behind the Minnesota Twins, are always dangerous at home. The fact they play a majority of their games at home the rest of the season makes Boston a real threat to the league leaders.

The victory also marked the return to Williams' good graces of Morehead, who pitched a six-hitter, and Scott, who homered.

Raised in Toronto, Morehead was recently recalled from the minor league Toronto team. He was notified in Columbus to report to the Red Sox immediately but went back to Toronto first and then was benched in his first two starts.

Scott was benched when his weight soared 12 pounds over the 215-lb limit set by the club.

"Morehead threw just great tonight," Williams said. "That's the way he pitched in his last two starts in Toronto."

Making a reference to his last arrival with the Sox, Williams added, "He must have been just plain tired when he first arrived here and got wacked."

Scott took his recent benching with good humor. "Think I should play even if I weigh 500 pounds. If I weighed myself everyday, I'd weigh 210 every day but the Williams coaches it myself so it wouldn't do any good."

Morehead, pitching his first complete game and shutout since his no-hitter of Sept. 16, 1965, also had the help of Indians by Reggie Smith and Carl Yastrzemski besides Scott's blast. Smith and Scott both connected in the first inning off Tiger loser Joe Spurno.

Morehead also got the help of a spectacular, tumbling catch of Don Wert's liner by Tony Conigliaro with two out and the bases loaded in the fifth.

Elsewhere in the American League, Minnesota stayed in first with a 4-0 victory over California, Chicago beat Kansas City 4-2 but lost the second game by the same 4-2 margin, Cleveland blanked Washington 3-0 and Baltimore outlasted New York 11-10 in 13 innings.

In the National League, St. Louis topped Chicago 6-4, Cincinnati nipped Pittsburgh 2-1, Philadelphia swept a pair from New York 3-2 in 12 innings and 7-5, San Francisco beat Atlanta 4-1 and Houston tripped Los Angeles 2-1 in 12 innings.

Wore A Path

Managers Eddie Stanky and Al Dark were out the path to the pitching mound on the Sox and A's split a pair of 4-2 decisions. A total of seven pitchers worked in the first game and nine saw duty in the second. Rocky Colavito hit a three-run homer in the first inning of the opener for the Sox while Rick Monday hit a three-run homer for the A's in the fifth inning of the second game.

Stan Williams, recalled from the minors last month, ran his shutout string to 20 1-3 innings while pitching a five-hit shutout for the Indians over Washington. Max Al-him, Williams' next needed for walking in the winning run in the 1962 playoff for the Dodgers to give the Giants the pennant, has made an amazing comeback and has posted a 2-1 record since returning to the majors.

Things were never worse for the Yankees than they were against Baltimore in their wild 13-inning marathon. The Yanks made six errors, let in five unearned runs and also enabled three more Orioles runs to score on wild pitches. But the Yanks still gained a 10-10 tie in the ninth on Bill Robinson's two-run homer.

It only prolonged the inevitable, however, as Fritz Peterson balked home Andy Echols with the deciding run following two Yankee errors in the 13th to give the Orioles the triumph.

Do you insure your home? Your car? Your other worldly goods? Shouldn't you insure your eyes with protective eyewear?

Mothers who caution their active youngsters not to play too hard lest "you break your glasses" ought to know about protective eyewear.

National League Counts Series Money For Javier

By SANDY PRISANT
UPI Sports Writer

Julian Javier says he isn't counting his World Series money yet. But he doesn't have to—the rest of the National League is about ready to do it for him.

Playing with the typical slugging that has marked the Cardinals' recent surge, Javier ignored the pain in his badly bruised hip and thigh Tuesday night to leg out a two-run triple and spark the Cards to a 6-4 triumph over the Chicago Cubs.

The victory was the 17th in 21 games for St. Louis since they were tied for first place with the Cubs on July 26, and left the Cardinals whopping 19½ games out in front.

Javier has sported a big, ugly lump on his right hip since spring training and has added a bruise on his right thigh recently.

"I'm not counting the money yet. Next month after we come back from our road trip we'll know whether to count the money," he said after the victory.

But the caution shown by the veteran second-baseman is far from justified. Even if the Cards play only 500 ball from here on out, second-place Atlanta would have to play at .750 to steal the pennant.

In fact the 1967 National League is such a pale shadow of years past that the best that can be said for it is that there's a fairly six-team battle going on for the runner-up spot.

The Cardinals, whose victories now seem as inevitable as the Yankees' used to be, were lagging behind the Cubs 2-0 going into the bottom of the sixth Tuesday. But Javier's triple, an error and a scoring single by Orlando Cepeda and winning pitcher Ray Washburn amounted to a five-run inning and the 19th loss in 26 games for the Cubs since they were tied for the league lead three and a half weeks ago.

Elsewhere in the National League, San Francisco swept Atlanta 4-1, Philadelphia swept a doubleheader from New York 3-2 and 7-4, Cincinnati squeaked past Pittsburgh 2-1 and Houston topped Los Angeles 2-1.

Minnesota, Chance 19-8 at California, McGlothlin 10-4.

Detroit, McLean 15-12 at Boston, Seaver 7-4.

Thursday's Games

Baltimore at New York

Cleveland at Washington, night

Detroit at Boston, night

(Only games scheduled)

Angels 2-1 in 12 innings.

In American League action, Minnesota strengthened its lead with a 4-0 triumph over California, Chicago took the first of two games from Kansas City 4-2, but dropped the nightcap by the same score, Baltimore downed New York 11-10 in 13 innings, Cleveland stopped Washington 3-0 and Boston blanked Detroit 4-0.

The Braves, who would have to win 36 of their remaining 48 games to overhaul a Cardinals playing at .500, lost more ground Tuesday when Jim Hart slammed a two-run homer, his 27th of the year, and Gaylord Perry hurled a five-hitter.

Perry, who won his ninth in 25 decisions, scored a run himself after a fifth-inning single and got more offensive support from Ty Cline who collected three singles and a triple and scored twice.

The Reds, who Orlando Cepeda says are the team the Cards must watch because of their good pitching, got a five-hit effort from Mel Queen and Ted Abernathy and scored their winning run in the eighth when Tony Perez doubled home Vada Pinson. But if St. Louis wins only half its remaining games, Cincinnati must play at a .773 clip to make the series.

The fifth-place Phillies, who would have to take 38 of their final 40 games to whip a 500 Cardinal team, got a 12th-inning homer from Bill White to win the opener and stopped the Mets in the nightcap with a triple play and a total of eight hits from Tony Gonzalez.

Claude Osteen set the pattern by retiring the first 12 Astros and Houston starter Bruce Von Hoff replied by shutting out the Dodgers on four hits in his first eight innings of work as a major leaguer, as both clubs remained scoreless until the 11th.

Houston won 8, in the 12th when rookie Doug Rader ripped a double down the right field line that scored Joe Morgan from first.

Protective eyewear can prevent eye cuts, punctures and lacerations. Thirty-three states do not have any laws governing Opticians.

Men still make passes at girls who wear glasses - and protective eyewear does not detract from a person's appearance.

Optician estimate 94 million Americans - over 50 percent of the population of the U. S. - wear glasses.

Impact-resistant protective eyewear can be tested by dropping a five-eighths inch steel ball on them from a height of 50 inches.

Between five and six million Americans wear contact lenses. One half of them, say the nation's Guild Opticians, are under 25 years of age.

Guild Opticians estimate that 23 million Americans should be wearing glasses but are not.

CARD OF THANKS

As another baseball season comes to a close, we think back over the past two seasons where there have been a lot of happy moments and some sad moments.

There has been someone missing from the ball parks these two seasons. That someone was Gene Cathey. But you people of Murray and Calloway County, made it possible for a part of him to live on in the beautiful Memorial Monument that was erected in his honor in the City Park.

The children and I want to say Thank You to everyone who had a part in the making of this Memorial.

It took money, time and hard work to get the finished product. We appreciate every donation, including money, materials and labor which went into it.

Not only will it remind us of a husband and daddy who loved sports so well, but also of the people who cared enough to make this Memorial possible.

Mrs. Marilyn Cathey

how long? Twenty years perhaps? Strong ties had been forged among all of you. You were the "bunch." The market-ers. All for one and one for all, like in the book. And one of you had got himself into a corner and needed the help of the others. So you all came through.

Knowles seemed to gather his composure and his defiance. "I can't help it if you want to compose fiction. Just let me get by while you think up the rest of the plot. Do me a favor, Champ."

"What was the corner? Why did Sargent suddenly have to run?"

"I don't know anything about it. If you're just going to make up a yarn and force me to listen —"

"I must be getting damned close to the truth. You're getting jittery as hell, Knowles. Your hands are plucking at the buttons on your suit and your feet keep shuffling around as if they wanted to run. What was Sargent's trouble — trouble he got you up to help him? So had he seemed about to run off from Doris without the divorce he wanted? And leaving a business he had taken him several years to build?"

A letter from Dr. Theodore R. M. Howard who directs a clinic in Chicago. He recalls in his letter that when he graduated from medical school in Los Angeles thirty-one years ago he needed $50.00 for clothing needed for graduation. His mother Mrs. Mary Palmer who cooked for Dr. Rob and Mrs. Mary Mason for many years went to the bank and George Hart let her have the $50.00. "The only security she had was her name," Dr. Howard says.

"Acts of kindness of this type seemed to have characterized the entire life of the Mr. George that I knew," Dr. Howard said.

Dr. Howard is another person of humble beginnings who has done well in this great land of ours.

We are convinced that what is inside a person is the most important factor, not what is on the outside. One person overcomes a challenge while another buckles before it. An obstacle to one is something to surmount while an obstacle to another is an excuse for quitting. Psychiatrists and psychologists can argue all they want to about heredity and environment, but it is what's on the inside that counts the most. It is not how things are, but how a person looks at them that counts.

We know this is true because when a person is depressed through his eyes.

Molded Magic For Summer

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

When you're entertaining, plan ahead to eliminate last minute rushing around. For example, a molded salad, always a popular warm weather entrée, is an ideal choice because it can be prepared a day in advance. To serve, your only chores involve unmolding and garnishing.

Today's recipes for molded salads are quite different, but they're equally good.

One is a savory creamy tomato aspic made with shrimp and stuffed olives.

The other is a California combination — avocado balls and grapefruit sections in a clear gelatin ring filled with cottage cheese.

OLIVE SHRIMP ASPIC
4 envelopes unflavored gelatin
1 (1-qt., 14 oz.) can tomato juice
1/2 tsp. Tabasco
1/2 tsp. chili powder
1/2 tsp. paprika
1 c. lemon juice
1 (8 oz.) pkg. cream cheese, softened
1/2 c. mayonnaise
1 1/2 lb. shrimp, cooked, shelled, deveined and finely chopped or 1/2 lb. cooked crabmeat or lobster, chopped
1 c. finely chopped pimiento-stuffed olives
1 c. finely chopped celery
Sliced pimiento-stuffed olives

PIMIENTO-STUFFED Spanish olives and shrimp add color and flavor to a delicious creamy tomato aspic molded salad.

Soften gelatin in 2 cups tomato juice for 5 minutes. Stir over low heat until gelatin dissolves. Add remaining tomato juice, Tabasco, chili powder, paprika and lemon juice; mix thoroughly. Beat cream cheese and mayonnaise together until smooth. Gradually add tomato mixture to cheese mixture; mix well. Chill until slightly thickened.

Fold shrimp, olives and celery into tomato mixture. Pour into 2 1/2-qt. mold. Chill until set. Unmold. Garnish with sliced pimiento-stuffed olives. Serves 6 to 8.

CALIFORNIA MOLDED SALAD

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1/2 c. water
2 tbsp. lemon juice
1 1/2 c. ginger ale
2 fully ripe California avocados
2 medium grapefruit, pared and sectioned
8 oz. creamed cottage cheese
Watercress

Sprinkle gelatin over water and lemon juice in saucepan to soften. Then stir over low heat until dissolved. Add ginger ale.

Halve avocados lengthwise, twisting gently to separate halves. Whack a sharp knife directly into each pit and twist to sift out. Scoop out avocado meat with melon cutter or a half teaspoon measure.

Using 5 1/2 cup ring mold, pour in sufficient gelatin mixture to cover bottom. Then layer in grapefruit and avocado and pour in remaining gelatin. Chill until set.

Unmold onto serving platter. Fill center with cheese and watercress. Serves 6 to 8.
